Kitchen Front Needs Defense

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Wide World Food Editor
When your soldier or sailor boys roll into the old homestead on leave, they will enjoy being greeted by some of their food favorites.

Most service men get good nourishment back on, she taught dramatics in a Chicago high school and at De Paul university, which she previously had attended.

She used an acquaintance with Oscar Serlin, Broadway producer, as an introduction to Broadway, but was shunted into stock. When finally she got into Broadway-bound production, it folded on the road. But she passed up an offer from RKO to understudy in "Three Men On A Horse."

Comes Love
Three days after she replaced Gloria Blomfield in that cast Horace MacMahon replaced Millard Mitchell, and a year later—in 1938—Miss Campbell became Miss MacMahon. She still is pleased about the whole thing.

"He's a movie bad man," she says, laughing. "You know—bang! bang!" She did get into the movies, however, with contracts which permitted her to continue with the stage. Most memorable of the films, perhaps, were "Starmaker" with Bing Crosby and "Men With Wings," a technicolor chronicle of aviation in which she shared honors with Ray Milland and Fred MacMurray.

"I took parts in bad plays and in stock just to learn and be seen," she says. "I consoled myself by thinking about how few hits the really great players have in a life time."

Finally, the Hit
Then, after a year of loafing for a good start, came "Guest In The House," a psychological study of an invalid's warped mind. She was cast as the young mother whose home is disrupted by said invalid, a role played with such determination by newcomer Mary Anderson of Birmingham that the balcony is filled with women who have come to grieve at the villainess and weep for the ever-loving Louise. That's why, as Miss Campbell says, it's a good commercial play if not an artistic success, which it narrowly escapes being.

A commutator from Rowayton, Conn., Miss Campbell boasts of her housewife arts and the fare she sets before. Two Gun MacMahon. This Alger girl also is being, or else somebody forgot to tell her actresses spend all their money. They say she skimps along on $150 a week, and that's just pocket money these days.

ing feed in the Army and Navy but they will be very glad to meet something new and snappy in culinary numbers.

There must be a full cookie jar in the house—and I suggest that you have a reserve hidden away. So here are some victory cookies that will be enjoyed: Cream together ½ cup butter and ¾ cup peanut butter, add 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs and ¼ cup cream. Beat 2 minutes. Stir in a cup raisins, a teaspoon each vanilla and grated orange rind, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 3 cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon soda mixed in. Roll dough drop portions from tip of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Flatten tops with fork and bake 10 minutes in moderate oven.

Jumbo Nut Topped Brownies

Cream 1 cup fat with 2 cups sugar (save up sugar rations for this treat), add 4 beaten eggs, ½ cup cream, 2 teaspoons vanilla ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Add 2 cups flour and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Beat 2 minutes—clock this to make sure you do not under beat. Pour to thickness of an inch in shallow pan lined with 2 thicknesses of waxed paper. Sprinkle top with 1 cup roasted pecans or sliced cashews. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven—about 350 degrees. Cool in pan, cut in 2 inch squares, remove and pack away in cookie jar or covered box.

Molasses Crunch

These are excellent to have on hand for between meal snacks. Boil 1 cup molasses with 1 ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt until "click ball" forms when portion is poured into cup cold water. Do not stir the mixture while cooking, but when it is done stir in 1 ½ teaspoon soda and while foaming add 1 cup roasted peanuts and 4 cups freshly popped unsalted popped corn. Mix thoroughly and drop portions onto waxed paper. Let cool and pack in a box in cool place.

State Needs Berry Pickers

LITTLE ROCK—The strawberry crop in Arkansas is of vastly more importance in 1942 than it has ever been before in the history of the state, according to Roscoe N. Rushing, Farm Placement Supervisor in Arkansas for the United States Employment Service.

"If we reach the Food for Victory goal as set by the Secretary of Agriculture," said Mr. Rushing, "it will require the best efforts of everyone to produce and harvest everything possible. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the importance to the war effort of sufficient supplies of food. The defense worker cannot produce, the soldier cannot fight, without food."

The strawberry harvest in Arkansas will get under way from April 20 to May 15. Present prospects are for a bumper crop; 16,000 strawberry pickers are now needed.

Most of the workers placed by the Farm Placement Service in this state come from Arkansas, eastern Oklahoma and southern Missouri, according to Mr. Rushing. Also some workers come here from 18 other states. These workers travel to the harvest fields in various ways; in late model cars pulling trailers; in old model cars of almost every make known to automobile history in almost every kind of shape and condition; they come on freight trains, and there is always a full quota of hitch hikers.

These workers as a class are honest, hard-working, easy-to-work-with people. The growers and other truck owners go all over Arkansas to gather up groups that have no other means of travel. Where a group does not have complete camp equipment, a house or shelter is furnished. Some growers furnish camp equipment, but no grower will furnish board, because the grower's wife, in most instances, supervises the packing. During peak activities, the shipping centers have the appearance of boom towns. Carnivals, picture machines and hamburger stands always appear.

"Agriculture offers an opportunity for everyone to do something to contribute to the War Effort," concluded Mr. Rushing. "Those who are not in the armed forces or in war production can find a place in agriculture. There is something there for everyone. Older people in many instances can work a few hours each day; there is a place for younger people who have never worked before; many physically handicapped are finding their niche in agriculture during these critical times; all over the country women are making a substantial contribution to the solution of the problem of shortages in farm labor supply. Everyone interested can get full information from his nearest local office of the United States Employment Service."

Every American citizen and Christian, in times such as these, should think seriously about going to church and worshipping.

Why I Go to Church

I suppose I could give a great number of reasons why I go to church, but really there is only one. That one is: The church is a place of worship and I feel that it is my duty and the Lord's will that I go every Sunday and do so.

Every American citizen and Christian, in times such as these, should think seriously about going to church and worshipping.

Here's a Town Run by Women

By ESCAR THOMPSON
Wide World Features

SPENCER, Tenn.—An invitation to attend an old fiddlers' contest or to eat a box supper means to residents of this Cumberland Plateau town what an official demand to "pay your taxes" might elsewhere.

This innovation in raising municipal revenue got its start in October, 1940, when eight civic-minded women got themselves elected to all the offices of the town government, abolished taxes and started sponsoring "benefits" for municipal purposes.

They're Making Money!
Their plan has worked; there is a surplus in the treasury of more than $1,000, or about two dollars for each of the community's 508 inhabitants (1940 census), and now "Madam Mayor" and her associates are planning a community building.

"Mountain men always help one another in building houses and things of that sort," said Mrs. J. M. Gordon, the mayor and a middle-aged housewife whose husband is a farmer.

"That's the way we intend to build our community house. The stone has been quarried and the men will put up the building whenever they can spare the time from their work. But we'll probably have to wait until after the war is over to get the heating and plumbing fixtures."

Took Over In 1940
An apathetic attitude on the part of the menfolk after former Mayor J. F. Kell died early in 1940 prompted the women to assume control of the town (county seat of Van Buren county) in the fall elections.

"No one seemed to know what was going to become of the city government after Mayor Kell died," Mrs.

Gordon explained, "so some of us women folk consulted a lawyer and found out what to do."

Miss Campbell Leading Lady

By RAY PEACOCK

(WIDE World Features Writer)

NEW YORK—If you were brought up to believe the old bromides which proclaim hard work, study and patience as sure stepping stones to success, then take heart from the copy-book case of Louise Campbell.

Miss Campbell is a leading lady on Broadway because she planned it that way. She has toiled in the vineyards of Broadway and Hollywood, has studied—even taught—dramatics, and as for patience, she waited a full year for the right play to establish her as a lead.

The play is "Guest In the House," and, says the scheming Miss Campbell, "I think it will do the trick."

The drama critic seem to concur. When last they saw Miss Campbell in the flesh she was an ingenue. They welcomed her back, not only as an old friend, but as one who had learned her trade.

Meet Miss Campbell. Miss Campbell, a delight to watch and a joy to hear, is petite in scale, with a Dresden-like sort of beauty set off by extremely dark, upswept brown hair. Her movements are graceful and unstudied, her voice cheerful and melodious—altogether, an escape from the clubwoman.

A Chicago girl, she had a youthful hankering for the stage, but to be on the practical side learned to be a dental assistant. With that to fall back on, she taught dramatics in a Chicago high school and at De Paul university, which she previously had attended.

She used an acquaintance with Oscar Serlin, Broadway producer, as an introduction to Broadway, but was shunted into stock. When finally she got into Broadway-bound production, it folded on the road. But she passed up an offer from RKO to understudy in "Three Men On a Horse."

Comes Love. Three days after she replaced Gloria Blondell in that cast Horace MacMahon replaced Millard Mitchell, and a year later—in 1938—Miss Campbell became Miss MacMahon. She still is pleased about the whole thing.

"He's a movie bad man," she says, laughing. "You know—bang! bang!" She did get into the movies, however, with contracts which permitted her to continue with the stage. Most memorable of the films, perhaps, were "Starmaker" with Bing Crosby and "Men With Wings," a technicolor chronicle of aviation in which she shared honors with Ray Milland and Fred MacMurray.

"I took parts in bad plays and in stock just to learn and be seen," she says. "I consoled myself by thinking about how few hits the really great players have in a life time."

Finally, the Hit. Then, after a year of looting for a good start, came "Guest In the House," a psychological study of an invalid's warped mind. She was cast as the young mother whose home is disrupted by said invalid, a role played with such determination by newcomer Mary Anderson of Birmingham that the balcony is filled with women who have come to gloat at the villainess and weep for the ever-loving Louise. That's why, as Miss Campbell says, it's a good commercial play if not an artistic success, which it narrowly escapes being.

A commuter from Rowayton, Conn., Miss Campbell boasts of her housewifely arts and the fare she sets before Two-Gun MacMahon. This Alger girl also is thrifty, or else somebody forgot to tell her actresses spend all their money. They say she skimps along on $150 a week, and that's just pocket money these days.

ing feed in the Army and Navy but they will be very glad to meet something new and snappy in culinary numbers.

There must be a full cookie jar in the house and I suggest that you have a reserve hidden away. So here are some victory cookies that will be enjoyed: Cream together 1/2 cup butter and 3/4 cup peanut butter, add 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs and 1/4 cup cream. Beat 2 minutes. Stir in a cup raisins.

1 teaspoon each vanilla and grated orange rind, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 3 cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon soda mixed in. Chill dough drop portions from tip of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Flatten tops with fork and bake 10 minutes in moderate oven.

Jumbo Nut Topped Brownies. Cream 1 cup fat with 2 cups sugar (save up sugar rations for this treat), add 4 beaten eggs, 1/2 cup cream, 2 teaspoons vanilla 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Add 2 cups flour and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Beat 2 minutes—clock this to make sure you do not under beat. Pour to thickness of an inch in shallow pan lined with 2 thicknesses of waxed paper. Sprinkle top with 1 cup roasted peanuts, pecans or sliced cashews. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven—about 350 degrees F. Cool in pan, cut in 2 inch squares, remove and pack away in cookie jar or covered box.

Molasses Cruch. These are excellent to have on hand for between meal snacks. Boil 1 cup molasses with 1/3 cup water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon salt until "click ball" forms when portion is poured into cup cold water. Do not stir the mixture while cooking, but when it is done stir in 1/3 teaspoon hoda and white foaming add 1 cup roasted peanuts and 4 cups freshly popped unsalted popped corn. Mix thoroughly and drop portions onto waxed paper. Let cool and pack in a box in cool place.

Bill Dickey Is Good as Ever

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK — William Malcolm Dickey is a remarkable baseball figure after 17 years at a wearing trade. Unlike Merv Shea, the Detroit coach and other backstops, Bill Dickey does not call catching equipment tools of ignorance.

"If I had it to do all over again, I'd catch," says the tall man who so skillfully handles the Yankee pitchers. "Catching is the most interesting position, the entire game is in front of you."

One of the most unusual things about Dickey is that he had stood up to well despite his odd stature for a receiver.

Five feet, 10 inches is considered the ideal height for a catcher. The catching squat should come easier to a player of that height.

The long-legged Dickey towers 6 ft. 1-2, yet looks as good as ever although he is crowding 35.

Catches 100 or More Games for 13 Consecutive Years

Dickey is the only catcher in baseball history who has caught 100 or more games for 13 consecutive campaigns.

Dickey's longevity is traced to the fact that he is a typical Yankee liver, which means a clean liver. He trumps his legs off during the off-season hunting and fishing. He is a great lover of dogs.

"Bill Dickey was the backbone of the Yankees even when they had Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

Pitchers have implicit faith in Dickey, who absorbed much baseball knowledge from the late Miller Huggins before adopting himself to the Joe McCarthy pattern.

Not a few rare Dickey the daddy of all catchers, although he lacks the speed of Roger Bresnahan, Wally Schang, Ray Schalk and Mickey Cochrane. He makes up for this shortcoming in other ways.

Dickey Pays Attention to Baseball Details

Why wouldn't Dickey assert that if he had it to do all over again, he'd catch? That is the reply you would expect from a successful man.

Then, too, Dickey could not play any other position, unless it would be first base. He lacks the speed to play the outfield, for example.

Dickey bogged down badly in 1940, but bounced back nicely last trip. He finished this spring's training season with a batting average of .406.

Some attribute his 1940 slump to the frightful reaction from the tragic illness of Lou Gehrig, his pal and roommate for years.

Like Joe McCarthy, Dickey watches the little things that accumulate during a season.

Attention to detail never hurt a ball player.

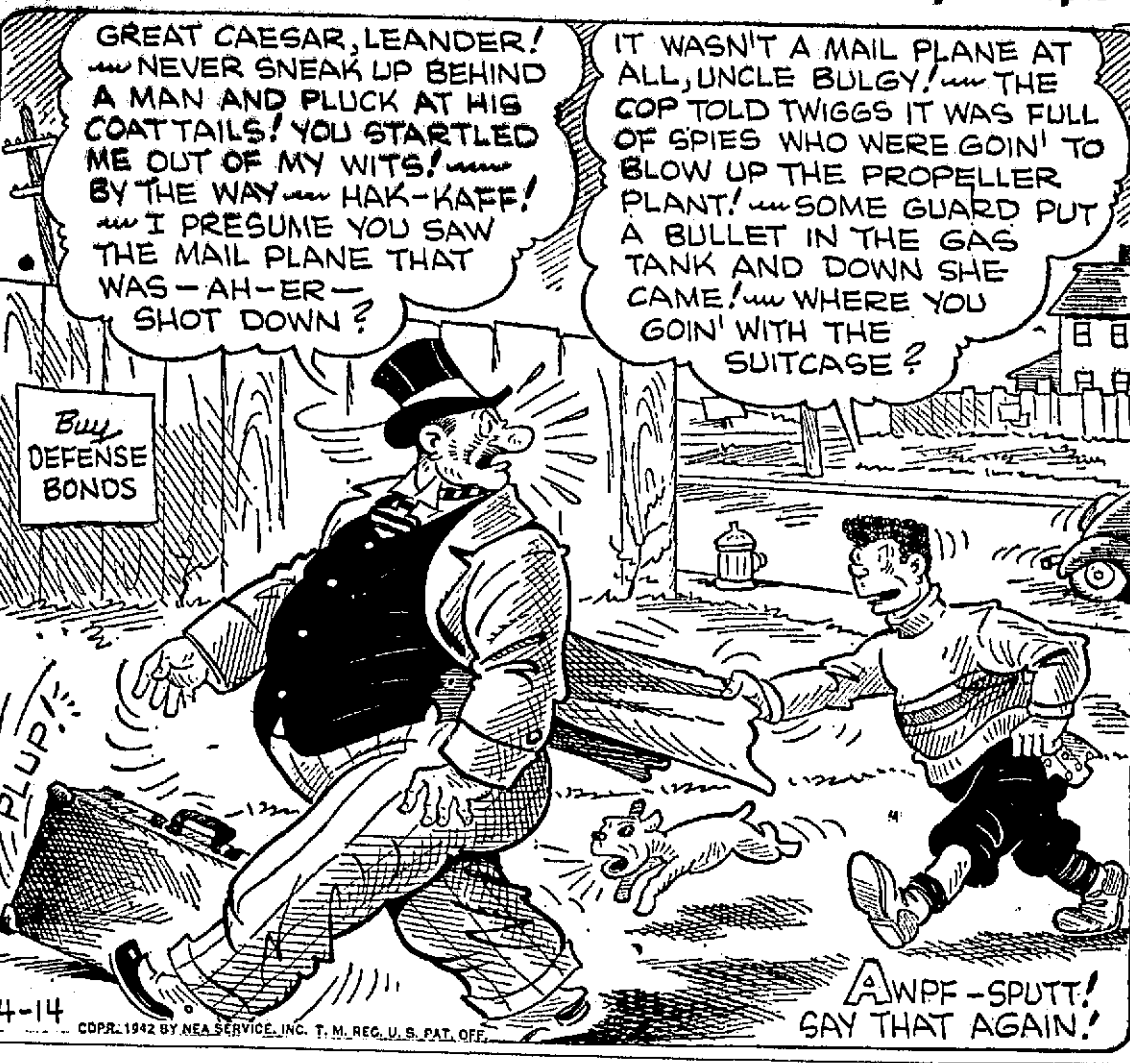

Bill Dickey offers further evidence of that.

MEXICAN MASQUERADE

By CECIL CARNES

ASIA'S GETAWAY
CHAPTER XVIII

"ALLAN!" He marveled at the way Asia's wonderful eyes were suddenly lighted by the fire of new hope. "You've come to save me! He will—he will shoot me, that Escobar!"

"I believe that's the idea," said Allan. "So think fast, lady! You can drive a car? Good! Do you happen to know where I left mine?" She nodded. Poona, she said, had told her. "Okay—here are the keys. Your pals didn't take them from me, thank goodness. Now, you hop in the sedan and beat it for the border—Mexicali. Understand?"

"Yes, yes! But—that devil will catch me!"

"Leave him to me. I think I can fix him. Got any cash?" She shook her head. "Here's a hundred. Will that get you anywhere?"

"Yes! It will take me in the States to—where I have resources! Oh, Allan—how can I ever repay you?"

"We'll, you might send me your address. Write me care of General Delivery, San Diego. Then I will come to you and—er—claim my reward! How's that?"

"Oh, Allan—it will be wonderful! You shall have anything I can give you—everything!"

"Little liar," said Allan to himself cheerfully. He looked around. "Nobody about for the moment," he said aloud. "Get going, Asia, and keep your foot on the gas till you hit the border. Vamoose!"

He was serious, however, when he met Escobar coming down the steps of the bungalow. The officer was smiling and gay till Allan summoned his courage and spoke bluntly to the point.

"You won't like it, but—I've just set Asia free."

"The devil you have!" For the first time, Allan saw the colonel really angry; his brow was a thundercloud, his eyes were coals of fire. "You carry sentiment a bit too far, senor! That woman—"

"I gave her my car and she's headed for Mexicali by now. I'm going to carry sentiment a little farther, Colonel. I was able to do you a small service once, and you promised to return the favor. I'm going to ask you to see she is allowed to cross the border unchecked."

There was a moment of silence so deep it could be felt. Then Escobar bowed—the coldest, most ironical bow Allan had ever seen. "You shall have the favor you ask, senor, with my compliments—and contempt!"

THAT was too much. Allan flushed an angry red, but before

Harrison in Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON, NEA Service Correspondent

Partner, Meet Record-Busting Autry

HOLLYWOOD — During a chat with a one-time ranch hand and telegraph operator by the name of Gene Autry, your correspondent has gathered some of the most amazing of American success stories.

The star's overstuffed sidekick, Smiley Burnette, helped with some of the details. It also should be recorded that Burnette, during the 12 years of their association, has contributed quite a lot to the success story.

Autry's current enthusiasm is his rodeo, which is starting a seven-week swing through half a dozen eastern cities. But before talking about that, I want to bring up to date some other Autry data.

Beats Out Bing

He has just finished "Stardust on the Sage," his 56th starring picture. As closely as anybody can figure, sales of his phonograph records have reached 10,000,000 a figure far ahead of Bing Crosby, his nearest competitor. On the radio almost continuously since 1926, Autry's records—plus songs he has helped to write or has made famous—are being played somewhere every minute to every day.

He gets more fan mail than any two or three other stars in Hollywood. More significant is the fact that Autry's mail consists almost entirely of personal tributes rather than requests for money. His popularity has reached the point where whole schoolrooms of kids write to him as exercises in composition.

Autry is wary about commercial endorsements, but 36 different products are being manufactured under his name. There are Gene Autry guns, Gene Autry belts, Gene Autry shirts, rings, suspenders, games, books and I don't know what all. A few months ago the four-millionth Gene Autry toy revolver was sent him as a souvenir. Fans ship him so many wood carvings, paintings, specially woven rugs, ties and lariats, cakes, handkerchiefs and other gifts that he no longer can store them all.

Does Big Business

He is obliged to keep a regular staff of 30 employees. He owns a small ranch here and a ranch in Oklahoma, where a town officially has been named for him. He also controls a lot of local real estate, and has his own music publishing company.

For years he wanted a big rodeo and wild west show, and he finally organized one against the pleadings of all his associates and well-wishers. Predicting that Gene would lose his shirt, and maybe his fancy pants along with it, they pointed to the unhappy experiences of showmen such as Tom Mix, Ken Maynard, and Hoot Gibson. Autry blithely went ahead, opening at the Houston Fat Stock Show this year, and 15 of the 17 performances were total sellouts.

How much of that success was due to Autry's personal popularity and much to the entertainment itself is uncertain, except that it all boils down to the star's own sense of showmanship. He produced a different kind of rodeo, with touches of Hollywood, musical comedy, and historical pageantry in addition to the usual bucking, roping, and bulldogging. There are sessions of square dancing, some black out acts with formation riding litemes, and a trail drive featuring 20 of the few remaining longhorn cattle, and the warbling of Mr. Autry himself.

I now lack the space to tell the hitherto unpublished story of why Gene Autry decided to get into movies. So there'll be more about him.

Everything costs more these days. Now it takes a monthly check to get the voter who used to come across for a package of garden seeds!

To make a wall takes many stones carefully fitted to one another. Once it is made, a wall endures.

This is a Newspaper Advertisement

It says that vitamins are good for you and that Jones sells them. If you see this advertisement once, you may or may not remember its message very long.

If you see the message twice, the chances are greater that you will remember it than if you saw it only once.

If you saw it many times (in the newspaper every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, for instance) you would be sure to remember it.

So advertising is like a wall. As a stonemason adds one stone after another to build a wall, an advertiser adds one advertisement after another, regularly and forcefully, so that his message is OBSERVED, REMEMBERED and ACCEPTED.

If Mr. Jones stopped advertising, you might remember that vitamins are good for you, but you might forget that Jones sells them.

And then, when you wanted vitamins you might not go to Jones but to his competitor, Smith, to get them.

Suppose Jones can't get vitamins temporarily. He doesn't want you to forget that he is in business because he will have more vitamins to sell later on. Also, he has other things to sell.

THAT IS WHY JONES, IF HE IS A WISE MERCHANT, KEEPS HIS NAME BEFORE YOU, DAY AFTER DAY, WEEK AFTER WEEK, EVEN THOUGH HE CAN'T GET SOME PARTICULAR ITEM THAT HE WOULD LIKE TO SELL TO YOU.

As long as you keep on seeing his name, you remember that Jones is progressive and that his service is good service. You're glad that he's still in business, and you'll remember to get some vitamins from him when he advertises them again. Meanwhile, if you need something from the druggist, give Jones a call. He's not in business for his health—but for yours.

When business is better in this town everybody benefits. When everybody in the town knows what's going on all over the world, each man can tell better how to vote, what to buy and how to protect himself.

Read these ads each week. Tell your friends to read them. They tell you what an important part your newspaper has in helping you to know what's going on, so you can decide what you personally are going to do about it all.

The publisher of this paper wants to serve the community the best he possibly can. If you have any suggestions or questions or criticisms don't hesitate to write him a letter. It will receive personal attention.
